The medication HALOPERIDOL has been recommended for the treatment of my mental problem(s). The Doctor has discussed the reasons why the above medication may be helpful, including the likelihood of the problem(s) improving or not improving with and without medication. I understand that medication will usually be given by mouth and that staff will observe my actually swallowing the medication. I have been told that the dosage of the medication may be adjusted and that the dosage range will be range from 0 mg. per day to a maximum of 40 mg. per day. Additional doses of this same type may be given dependent on the staff's assessment of my behavior and my reported response to the medication.

The length of time this medication will be prescribed for me is dependent on my response to the medication. The physician has provided me a best estimate of my need for psychiatric medication and the length of time I am likely to be taking such medication. As with all medication, there may be side effects. I understand that I am to tell the staff if I have side effects, as in some cases side effects can be reduced by lowering the dose of medication or using another medication. The following checked side effects are relatively frequent:

☐ I have been told that this medication may produce persistent involuntary movements of the face or mouth and at times similar movements of the hands and feet. This condition is called Tardive Dyskinesia and in certain cases these symptoms appear to be irreversible and may even appear after the medication has been stopped.

☐ Although the U. S. Government (FDA) has not approved this medication for my specific problem, doctors in the community have found it helpful for similar problems.

☐ I understand that I may change my decision to accept medication at any time by telling any member of the treatment team. Should I decide to stop or to decrease my psychiatric medication, I have been informed to do this under the guidance of staff and not to stop medication suddenly.

☒ I am aware that this copy will be in my Health Record.

☒ I want a copy of this consent for my own records.

☐ I want more printed information on this medication.

☒ I agree to take the psychiatric medication as prescribed.

TAJU AHMED,

Petitioner,

v.

C.A. TERHUNE,

Respondent.

Civil No. 00cv84-W(AJB)

Report and Recommendation Regarding Respondent's Motion to Dismiss [Doc.
No. 39]

Petitioner Taju Ahmed, a state prisoner proceeding pro se, has filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 challenging his conviction for first degree murder in San Diego County Superior Court Case No. SDC120898. Currently pending before the Court, following a remand from the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, is Respondent's motion to dismiss Ahmed's first and third claims for relief.¹ Respondent once again argues that Petitioner's first and third claims are procedurally defaulted. By Order filed April 29, 2004, this Court advised Petitioner of his burden in opposing Respondent's motion to dismiss pursuant to the test set forth in Bennett v. Mueller, 322 F.3d 573 (9th Cir. 2003). Petitioner has filed an opposition. Respondent did not file a reply. Upon review, this Court once again concludes that the Petitioner's first and third claims are procedurally barred and properly

¹ Ahmed's second claim was originally denied on its merits, and the Ninth Circuit granted a certificate of appealability only on the issue of whether the District Court properly determined that his claims were procedurally defaulted. Thus, there remains no issue with regard to Ahmed's second claim for relief. That claim has been denied.

1 dismissed. Thus, it is recommended that the Respondent's motion to dismiss be GRANTED and this 2 action dismissed with prejudice.

3 Facts and Procedural History

4 Petitioner Taju Ahmed was convicted by a jury in San Diego County Superior Court Case No.
 5 SCD120898 of the first degree murder of a male acquaintance at Ahmed's apartment in May 1996. He 6 was sentenced on February 11, 1997 to 29 years to life in prison for the murder and the personal use of a 7 firearm. Ahmed had been diagnosed five years before the incident as paranoid schizophrenic. His 8 defense theory was self defense and imperfect self defense based on mental disorder. Mot. Ex. "B", p.
 9 5.²

10 Ahmed appealed his conviction to the California Fourth District Court of Appeal. He alleged his 11 "federal constitutional rights to due process guaranteed by the 14th Amendment" were violated when 12 the trial court sustained objections to two questions defense counsel posed to police detective Flynn, 13 apparently designed to elicit lay opinion of Ahmed's mental condition. Ahmed also asserted that his 14 restitution fine must be reduced. Mot. Ex. "B", pp. 7-8. In a September 1, 1998 unpublished opinion, 15 the Court of Appeal modified the judgment to reduce the restitution fine, but affirmed the conviction 16 after a reasoned analysis.³ Mot. Ex. "B". Ahmed petitioned the California Supreme Court for review, 17 alleging only prejudicial error in the exclusion of investigating officer Flynn's testimony. Mot. Ex. "C".
 18 The California Supreme Court summarily denied review on November 19, 1998. Mot. Ex. "D".

19 Ahmed filed a Petition For Writ Of Habeas Corpus in the California Court of Appeal on 20 January 19, 1999. Mot. Ex. "E". He asserted a single ground for relief: "the trial court violated [his] 21 constitutional rights by erroneously admitting statements he made to officer Flynn." Id., p. 3. Ahmed 22 contended that videotaped statements he made "were obtained in violation of [Miranda] procedural 23 safeguards," and were improperly admitted as evidence at his trial. Id. Ahmed also complained of his 24 inability to obtain a copy of Detective Flynn's report. Mot. Ex. "E". In its April 14, 1999 decision, the 25

26 ² Relevant portions of the state court record were lodged with the Courts as exhibits to 27 Respondent's points and authorities in support of the original motion to dismiss. Dkt. No. 8. Thus 28 citations are to the exhibits attached to that original points and authorities.

³ As permitted by 28 U.S.C. §2254(e), the court relies on the facts as set forth in the state appellate opinion. Mot. Ex. "B".

1 Court of Appeal stated it had "read and considered" the habeas petition, and was enclosing with its ruling 2 "a copy of the report by Detective Flynn on May 8, 1996," then dismissed the petition without prejudice.
 3 Mot. Ex. "F".

4 On February 1, 1999, Ahmed filed his first federal Petition For Writ Of Habeas Corpus in this 5 Court, opening Case No. 99cv0169-IEG(CGA). Mot. Ex. "G". The Petition presented a single claim:
 6 the trial court allegedly made improper evidentiary rulings in connection with Detective Flynn's 7 testimony in violation of Ahmed's Fourteenth Amendment right to due process. ⁴ Id. On August 23, 8 1999, Ahmed filed a "Motion To Dismiss Habeas Corpus Petition In Order To Exhaust State Remedies." 9 Mot. Ex. "K". On November 18, 1999, the motion was granted and Ahmed's federal petition was 10 dismissed without prejudice. Mot. Ex. "L".

11 Meanwhile, on September 7, 1999, Ahmed filed a Petition For Writ Of Habeas Corpus with the 12 California Supreme Court. Mot. Ex. "M". He asserted three grounds for relief. First, he contended his 13 constitutional right to due process was violated when the trial court allowed into evidence incriminating 14 statements Ahmed made purportedly in violation of his Miranda rights. He alleged, among other things:
 15 his inability to "understand his Miranda rights clearly in English" when he was interrogated by the police 16 about the crime; his impairment at the time due to the psychotropic drugs he was taking for his "severe 17 psychological condition;" and that he was allowed access to an interpreter only after he had waived his 18 Miranda rights. Id. at pp. 3-8. Second, Ahmed challenged the exclusion of "relevant testimony by a 19 peace officer, even if it was hearsay," purportedly because a CAL. EVID. CODE hearsay exception applied 20 and that evidentiary ruling had "a profound effect on the defen[se] strategy." Id. at pp. 9-14. The 21 substance of his new claim asserted that an officer Ursey would have testified about a 1995 domestic 22 violence incident, unrelated to Ahmed's crime, involving the man Ahmed killed. Ahmed sought to 23 introduce that testimony to show the deceased was violent when intoxicated. The alleged victim of the 24

 25 ⁴ The matter was dismissed without prejudice on February 10, 1999 for failure to pay the filing 26 fee. Mot. Ex. "H". The case was reopened on March 15, 1999 when Ahmed paid the filing fee. Mot.
 27 Ex. "I". Respondent timely filed an Answer, but Ahmed missed the July 6, 1999 deadline for filing a 28 Traverse. See Mot. Ex. "J", p. 1. Six days later, Ahmed filed a Motion To Stay Petition in order to exhaust state remedies on a new, unspecified issue and sought leave to amend his petition upon exhaustion of the new issue. Id., pp. 1-2. By Order filed August 9, 1999, the motion was denied, and Ahmed was given the options (1) to dismiss his federal case in order to exhaust state court remedies, warning Ahmed of the potential statute of limitations issues, or (2) to proceed with his federal petition containing his one exhausted claim. Id., pp. 3-5.

1 domestic violence incident could not be located to appear at Ahmed's trial. Ahmed relied solely on the 2 CAL. EVID. CODE § 1370 exception to the hearsay rule and a citation to Chapman v. California, 386 U.S.
 3 18 (1967). He alleged no infringement of any federal constitutional right. Third, Ahmed claimed the 4 appointment of an interpreter who allegedly "did not know how to interpret Petitioner's native [Ethio-5 pian] dialect into English competently" denied Ahmed "a fair trial and due process of the law," citing his 6 "6th Amendment right to confront witnesses under the Confrontation Clause" and the Fourteenth 7 Amendment. Id. at pp. 15-17. The California Supreme Court summarily denied Ahmed's habeas 8 petition on November 23, 1999, citing In re Dixon (1953) 41 Cal.2d 756, 759 and In re Swain (1949) 34 9 Cal.2d 300, 304. Mot. Ex. "N".

10 On January 13, 2000, Ahmed filed the instant federal Petition.⁵ He raised substantially the same 11 three claims as he had presented in his state habeas petition to the California Supreme Court. However, 12 he added to his second claim (i.e. exclusion of officer Ursey's testimony) the allegation that the ruling 13 not only violated the California Evidence Code but also infringed his federal constitutional right to due 14 process. Respondent moved to dismiss Ahmed's "mixed" petition for failure to exhaust his state court 15 remedies on the second claim. Respondent also contended that Ahmed's first and third claims were 16 procedurally barred. On September 1, 2000, then-Magistrate Judge Burns recommended that the motion 17 to dismiss be granted, finding that the first and third claims were procedurally barred, and that the 18 second claim was properly rejected on its merits. The report and recommendation was adopted by the 19 District Judge on September 22, 2000, and Ahmed's petition was dismissed. Ahmed appealed.

20 The Ninth Circuit originally affirmed the dismissal of Ahmed's petition. That original unpub-21 lished decision, however, was withdrawn. By unpublished memorandum decision filed November 23, 22 2003, the Ninth Circuit vacated the District Court's decision that Ahmed's claims were procedurally 23 barred and remanded for further proceedings consistent with Bennett v. Mueller, 322 F.3d 753 (9th Cir.
 24 2003). Following remand, Respondent once again filed a motion to dismiss as to Ahmed's first and 25 third claims, arguing such claims were procedurally barred. On April 29, 2004, this Court issued an 26

27 ⁵ The case was dismissed without prejudice on January 24, 2000 for failure to pay the filing fee.
 28 Dkt No. 2. On that same date, this court issued its Notice Regarding Possible Failure To Exhaust And One Year Statute Of Limitations. Dkt No. 4. Ahmed paid the filing fee on February 11, 2000, and the federal case was reopened on February 23, 2000.

1 order advising Ahmed of his burden in opposing Respondent's motion to dismiss as set forth in Bennett.
 2 Petitioner has filed an opposition.

3 Discussion

4 "Federal courts 'will not review a question of federal law decided by a state court if the decision 5 of that court rests on a state law ground that is independent of the federal question and adequate to 6 support the judgment.'" Bennett, 322 F.3d at 580 (quoting Coleman v. Thompson, 601 U.S. 722, 729 7 (1991)).

8 Under the adequate and independent state grounds doctrine, federal courts "will not 9 review a question of federal law decided by a state court if the decision of that court rests 10 on a state law ground that is independent of the federal question and adequate to support 11 the judgment." . . . "The procedural default doctrine is a specific application of the 12 general adequate and independent state grounds doctrine. . . ." The procedural default doctrine "bar[s] federal habeas when a state court declined to address a prisoner's federal claims because the prisoner had failed to meet a state procedural requirement." ¶ . . . For the procedural default doctrine to apply, a state rule must be clear, consistently applied, and well-established at the time of the petitioner's purported default. . . .

13 Fields v. Calderon, 125 F.3d 757, 761-62 (9th Cir. 1997) (citations omitted).

14 1. Independence

15 "For a state procedural rule to be 'independent,' the state law basis for the decision must not be 16 interwoven with federal law." LaCrosse v. Kernan, 244 F.3d 702, 704 (9th Cir. 2001). "A state law 17 ground is so interwoven if 'the state has made application of the procedural bar depend on an antecedent 18 ruling on federal law [such as] the determination of whether federal constitutional error has been 19 committed." Park, 202 F.3d at 1152; see also Ake v. Oklahoma, 470 U.S. 68, 75 (1985)); Coleman, 501 20 U.S. at 729.

21 The California Supreme Court denied Ahmed's habeas petition on November 23, 1999 in a 22 summary decision, stating in its entirety: "Petition for writ of habeas corpus is DENIED. (In re Dixon 23 (1953) 41 Cal.2d 756, 759; In re Swain (1949) 34 Cal.2d 300, 304." Mot. Ex. "N". Citation to Swain or 24 Dixon invokes well established procedural rules under California law.

25 In Swain, the California Supreme Court held that a state habeas petitioner who 'belatedly 26 presents a collateral attack . . . [must] explain the delay in raising the question.' . . . The Swain rule is commonly referred to as the "untimeliness" bar In Dixon, the Califor-27 nia Supreme Court held that "in the absence of special circumstances constituting an excuse for failure to employ [the] remedy [of direct review], the writ will not lie where 28 the claimed errors could have been, but were not, raised upon a timely appeal from a judgment of conviction." . . . The Dixon and Swain rules are "separate and distinct" procedural bars.

1 Washington v. Cambra, 208 F.3d 832, 833-34 (9th Cir. 2000) (citations omitted).⁶

2 Traditionally, in determining whether petitions barred by the untimeliness rule of Swain or the 3 Dixon bar qualified for an exception to those procedural rules, the California courts "considered the 4 federal constitutional merits of the petitions." Bennett, 322 F.3d at 581. In In re Robbins, 18 Cal. 4th 5 770 (1998), however, the California Supreme Court declared that henceforth, "it would no longer 6 consider federal law in denying a petition on untimeliness grounds." Bennett, 322 F.3d at 581. In 7 Bennett, the Court held that because Robbins makes clear that in the future California courts would not 8 consider federal law when deciding whether claims are procedurally defaulted, a post-Robbins invoca-9 tion of California's untimeliness rule under Swain and other cases would be considered an independent 10 state law procedural ground. Bennett, 322 F.3d at 581. Although the Court in Bennett did not directly 11 address the independence of the Dixon rule, the same rationale applies. See Protsman v. Pliler, __ F.
12 Supp. 2d __, 2004 WL 1157774 (S.D. Cal. 2004).

13 In October 1998, after the California Court of Appeal denied Ahmed's appeal, he filed for review 14 by the California Supreme Court, but raised none of the claims he subsequently presented in his habeas 15 petition to that court. Ten months after his petition for review was denied, he filed his habeas corpus 16 petition with the California Supreme Court raising for the first time the claims at issue in his current 17 petition. That petition was denied by the California Supreme Court by citation to Swain and Dixon.
18 Pursuant to Bennett, the California Supreme Court's citation to these procedural rules constituted an 19 independent state law ground for denial of relief.

20 2. Adequacy

21 "To be deemed adequate, the state law ground for decision must be well-established and 22 consistently applied." Bennett, 322 F.3d at 583.

25 ⁶ Swain may also be cited "to indicate that claims have not been alleged with sufficient 26 particularity. That deficiency, when it exists, can be cured in a renewed petition." Kim v. Villalobos, 27 799 F.2d 1317, 1319 (9th Cir. 1986). Ahmed's habeas petition to the California Supreme Court consisted 28 of 19 pages of descriptive detail regarding the basis for his contentions, supporting the view that he alleged them with a maximum of particularity. The conclusion that the Court cited Swain for its untimeliness bar is further supported by Ahmed's delay from the April 14, 1999 California Court of Appeal dismissal of his first state habeas petition until September 7, 1999 to file his California Supreme Court habeas petition. See Robbins, 18 Cal. 4th at 784. Ahmed offered no justification for his delay in raising the claims he presented for the first time in his California Supreme Court petition.

1 Once the state has adequately pled the existence of an independent and adequate state 2 procedural ground as an affirmative defense, the burden to place that defense in issue 3 shifts to the petitioner. The petitioner may satisfy this burden by asserting specific factual allegations that demonstrate the inadequacy of the state procedure, including citation to authority demonstrating inconsistent application of the rule. Once having done so, 4 however, the ultimate burden is the state's.

5 Id. at 586. Having been advised of this burden-shifting paradigm in the Court's April 29, 2004 Order 6 requiring additional briefing, Petitioner's opposition to the current motion to dismiss contains no 7 argument regarding why the procedural rules relied upon by the California Supreme Court are inade-8 quate.

9 As the Ninth Circuit pointed out in Park, the California Supreme Court in In re Harris, 5 Cal. 4th 10 813 (1993) and In re Clark, 5 Cal. 4th 750 (1993) re-defined the manner in which California courts were 11 to exercise their discretion when applying the Dixon rule and the untimeliness bar. Park, 202 F.3d at 12 1151. "These decisions were intended to 'reestablish California's procedural rules governing state 13 habeas petitions and clearly define and limit the applicable exceptions.'" Id. (quoting Fields, 125 F.3d at 14 763-64). Ahmed has pointed to, and this Court is aware of, no judicial opinions holding these state 15 procedural rules to be inadequate to bar federal review. As such, it is recommended that Ahmed's 16 claims be found to be procedurally barred.

17 3. Cause and Prejudice

18 Although Ahmed's claims are procedurally barred by adequate and independent state grounds, 19 those claims may be reviewed by this Court upon a showing of "cause for the default and actual 20 prejudice as a result of the alleged violation of federal law." Vansickel v. White, 166 F.3d 953, 958 (9th 21 Cir. 1999). Alternatively, this Court may reach the merits of Ahmed's claims if he demonstrates that 22 "failure to consider the claims will result in a fundamental miscarriage of justice." Id. In his opposition 23 to the pending motion to dismiss, Ahmed does not set forth any grounds justifying cause for his 24 procedural default, and does not set forth any reasons why failure to address the merits of his claims 25 would result in actual prejudice or a fundamental miscarriage of justice. Thus, it is recommended that 26 Respondent's motion to dismiss be GRANTED and Ahmed's petition be dismissed with prejudice.

27 Conclusion

28 Ahmed's claims are barred because the state court's decision rejecting those claims rested on adequate and independent state law grounds. Thus, it is recommended that Respondent's motion to 1 dismiss be granted, and Ahmed's petition be dismissed with prejudice. This report and recommendation 2 will be submitted to the United States District Judge assigned to this case, pursuant to the provisions of 3 28 U.S.C. §636 (b)(1) (1988). Any party may file written objections with the court and serve a copy on 4 all parties by July 28, 2004. The document should be captioned "Objections to Report and Recommen-5 dation." Any reply to the objections shall be served and filed by August 11, 2004. The parties are 6 advised that failure to file objections within the specified time may waive the right to raise those 7 objections on appeal of the Court's order. Martinez v. Ylst, 951 F.2d 1153 (9th Cir. 1991).
